

WHSQ-HSR-NCB01

Health & Safety Representative

Do you aim to become or have you been nominated to be a Health and Safety Representative at your workplace?

Have you requested approved training under the Workplace Health and Safety Act 2011?

If so, this is the course for you.

Course Overview

A Health and Safety Representative (HSR) is the person elected by members of a work group within a business, or across a number of businesses to represent that work group during consultation on work health and safety issues. HSRs need relevant knowledge and skills to allow them to exercise their powers to promote and ensure the health and safety of the members of their work-groups. Under the WHS Regulations and outlined in section 72 of the WHS Act, they are entitled to attend a training course in work health and safety that is approved by the regulator.

Course Aims and Content

This course provides participants with the knowledge and skills necessary to fulfil their role as a HSR in Queensland. Blueprint Employment and Training is a Workplace Health and Safety Queensland approved provider of this course, which is compliant under the Work Health and Safety Act 2011. This course is comprised of five (5) elements:

- Work, Health and Safety framework
- Consultation, Representation and Participation
